

Random formulas and the interpolation technique in proof complexity

Pavel Hrubeš
Czech Academy of Sciences
hrubes@math.cas.cz

Abstract

I will discuss the interpolation technique as a means to obtain lower bounds in proof complexity. The method had been previously applied to a host of proof systems; I will discuss its applicability to randomly chosen unsatisfiable formulas.