

Philosophical Institute of the Czech Academy of Sciences
Department for Analytical Philosophy
Department for the Studies of Modern Rationality

&

EXTERNALISM-INTERNALISM DISPUTE AND THE THEORY OF INTERPRETATION

Prague, Philosophical Institute, April 8 - 10, 2002

Monday, April 8

10 a.m. - 12

Externalism: Complete Collection of Proofs
(opening of exhibition)

*

Anthony Grayling (University of London):
Internal Limits on Content Externalism

William Child (Oxford University):
Wittgenstein's Externalism and Modern Externalism

*

2 p.m. - 4 p.m.

Andreas Kemmerling (Universität Heidelberg):
Some Remarks Concerning an Argument for Anti-Individualism

Alberto Voltolini (Università del Piemonte Orientale):
The Metaphysics of Internism and Externism

Asa Wikforss
Aposteriori Externalism and Self-Knowledge

Göran Rossholm (Stockholm Universitet):
Apropos Menard: On the Concept of Literary Work

Tuesday, April 9

10 a.m. - 12

Tomáš Marvan (Filosofický ústav Praha):
A Puzzle of Uninterpretable Languages

Petr Koťátko (Filosofický ústav Praha):
Having a Concept

*

2 p.m. - 5 p.m.

Björn Ramberg (Universitet Oslo):
Illuminating Language: Theory and Understanding in Davidson and Gadamer

Barry Smith (University of London):
Interpretation, Externalism and Internal States

Peter Pagin (Universitet Stockholm):
Communicative Success and the World

Wolfram Hinzen (Universität Regensburg):
Meaning is Inside, Interpretation Outside

*

Wednesday, April 10

10 p.m. - 1 p.m.

Kathrin Glüer (Universitet Uppsala):
Putnam on Perception

Martin Hahn (Simon Fraser University):
Colour Perception, Colour Concepts and Externalism

Folke Tersman (Stockholm Universitet):
Are We Lovers of the Good?