are delighted to invite you to the international conference

Function words in Slavic languages

The conference will be held March 30–31, 2023, via the Zoom platform.

Topics:

- Function words (prepositions, conjunctions, particles, and other expressions with similar functions) in Slavic languages: their role, structure, meaning, function, frequency, and word-class gradience;
- Prepositions, conjunctions, particles, and other expressions with similar functions from a contrastive perspective: similarities and differences across Slavic languages;
- Function word research based on corpora;
- Function words in diachrony;
- Function words in dialects of Slavic languages.

Working languages: all Slavic languages, English.

The registration form should be filled in here, including the abstract (100–150 words), and submitted by January 15, 2023.

You will be notified of the acceptance of your abstract by January 31, 2023, and you will also be sent the instructions concerning the formatting of submissions, which will be published together after the conference as a collective publication. Full papers should be submitted by May 31, 2023.

In case of any inquiries, please contact the organizing committee at synsemantika2022@gmail.com.

The conference is held under the auspices of the Czech Society for Slavonic, Balkan and Byzantine Studies.

We are looking forward to the online meeting!
