Software Complexity as a Software Quality Indicator.

Jiří Vaníček

Abstract: The known methods of program complexity measurement, based on flowgraphs is critized. The new method of the complexity measurement for imperative programs, based on lucid decomposition, is proposed.