

Information Boundedness Principle in Fuzzy Inference Process.

Peter Sarkoci; Michal Šabo

Abstract: The information boundedness principle requires that the knowledge obtained as a result of an inference process should not have more information than that contained in the consequent of the rule. From this point of view relevancy transformation operators as a generalization of implications are investigated.

Keywords:

AMS Subject Classification: 04A;