

Vilém Semerák – Brief CV

An economist, studied at Prague University of Economics (VŠE Praha), London School of Economics & Political Science, and Charles University (IES and CERGE-EI); obtained Ph.D. degree from the Prague University of Economics in 2003. He teaches at Charles University and the Prague branch of New York University, also works as a researcher for the CERGE and IDEA think-tank. He also worked in China at Shandong Economic University and East China Normal University. Vilém Semerák specializes in international trade theory, economics of transition and Chinese economy.