A) Prague Castle and St. Vitus Cathedral – the largest medieval castle in the world – jewel of the Czech capital, enchanting large Cathedral, castle exhibition of Czech history, collection of Bohemian art, Prague Castle Gallery, Toy Museum, Powder Tower and Golden Lane are some of the places to see. Most monuments are open daily Apr-Oct 9am-5pm, and Nov-Mar 9am-4pm. Entrance fees are required for a few selected areas. Allow at least ½ day.

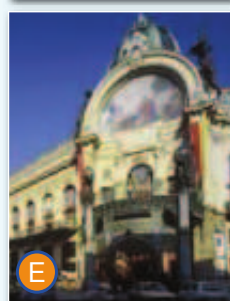

B) Old Town Sq. and Astronomical Clock – just in the heart of the Old Town surrounded by charming baroque, gothic and rococo architecture, Old Town Sq. is a great place to hang around, have a lunch at one of many of its cafes, hire a horse or buggy, browse markets stalls or just watch the Astronomical clock. Don't miss the Church of Our Lady Before Týn, the rococo Kinsky Palace, the medieval House at the Stone Bell and baroque St. Nicholas Church.

C) Charles Bridge – dating back to 1357 this bridge was built to replace Judith's Bridge from the 12th century. There are thirty sculptures that decorate the bridge dated mainly from the baroque period. Charles Bridge is one of the most popular tourist spots - vibrant day or night, scattered with vendors and entertainers. Early morning is the best time to experience a less crowded walk, although a romantic evening walk through the impressively lit streets of Prague by night is nice too.

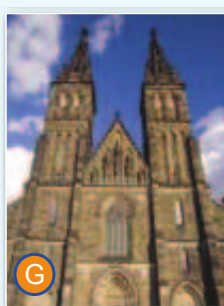

D) Jewish Quarter Josefov – oldest Jewish settlement in Europe named after emperor Josef II. Here are two figures synonymous with this part of the city, Franz Kafka and the mystical humunculus Golem created by Rabi Löw. The Jewish cemetery, Old-new Synagogue, Klausen Synagogue and the Pinkas Synagogue are definitely worthwhile sights. Be prepared for entrance admission to most of the sights ranging from 200 CZK or just buy 480 CZK for a ticket encompassing all the sights.

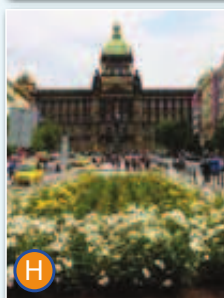

E) Municipal House – Prague's most prominent Art Nouveau building with interior partially designed by Alphonse Mucha, built between 1905 and 1912. Visit the biggest concert hall in town (Smetanova Hall) and also don't miss coffee at the fabulous Municipal House Kavárna. Next to the Municipal House is Powder Gate - one of the 13 original fortified gates to Old Town. There is also a small exhibition about the tower and it is open for great views of the city.

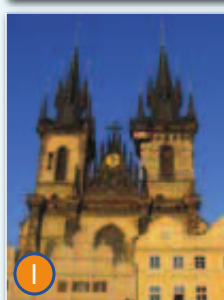

F) Petřín Hill and Funicular – escape to the green peaceful grounds of Petřín, visit the Petřín Observation Tower, Observatory or just enjoy great views of the city. Funicular Railway to Petřín Hill is just opposite to tram stop Ujezd (trams 12, 22, 23) in Lesser Town. Railway runs in 10-15 min. intervals. From Petřín Hill you can take a walk to the Strahov Monastery. The monastery area includes the unique Strahov Library decorated with Baroque ceiling frescos.

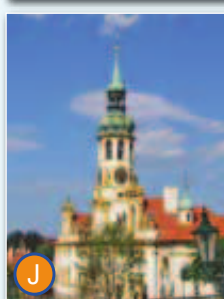

G) Vyšehrad – once it was a forbidding fortress and now it is a popular place for locals during weekends. Visit the city's oldest Romanesque rotunda of St. Martin, the Church of St. Peter & Paul, enjoy a peaceful walk in the gardens. It is easily and quickly reachable from the centre by metro line 'C' to station 'Vyšehrad' (two stations from the National Museum). From there it is about a 10-minute walk to Vyšehrad's main gate. The tour of the complex takes about 2 or 3 hours.

H) Wenceslas Square – is a hustle and bustle of commerce, tourist shops, restaurants, casinos, hotels, and countless shops. It really comes alive after dark, when its restaurants, cinemas and night clubs attract the tourist crowds. At the northern end of the square you can find the neo-Renaissance National Museum and St. Wenceslas Monument. Another significant building is Koruna palác - a covered shopping arcade with a stunning glass dome dating from 1911.

I) Church of Our Lady Before Týn – fascinating interior with gothic touches from the 14th century. The interior's Gothic, Renaissance and Baroque features include sculptures of Calvary, a pewter font and a 15th - century Gothic pulpit. The Danish astronomer Tycho Brahe is buried in a marble tomb here. The cathedral is an Old Town Square landmark with distinctive twin spires that area reassuring sight to many tourists after losing their bearings in the narrow surrounding byways.

J) The Loreta – is a pilgrimage site established by B. B. Katherina von Lobkovicz in 1626 where you can see replica of Santa Casa. The Santa Casa is an over-decorated baroque cube, which has fragmentary frescoes inside, and houses the wonder-working statue of Our Lady of Loreto. The Loreta treasury has a famed collection of vestments and other religious objects. In the south-western corner is the Chapel of Our Lady of Sorrows, which has a sculpture of a crucified bearded woman.

K) St. Nicholas Church – Baroque church built in the period of 1704-1755 by Kilian Dientzenhofer. There are beautiful ceiling paintings that show scenes from the life of St. Nicholas and St. Benedict, and a wonderful chandelier. The southern facade is decorated with figures of Saints. Decorated with white stucco, it has been nicknamed, the wedding cake, and is a classic example of Prague baroque architecture. The splendid dome is 18m in fact higher than the Petřín Tower.
