On the waves again

“And the ship sails on”, we might say in line with the title of last year’s editorial and the 1983 film by Federico Fellini (E la nave va). The ship of the Institute of Art History of the Academy of Sciences of the Czech Republic does not have a rhinoceros on board, as was the case in Fellini’s film, but nevertheless it does have a number of exceptional projects. Luckily there has not been a repeat of the stormy years of 2009–2010, but even so our ship has been exposed to the now traditional dangers of threatened financial cuts to the budget. The captain of the crew has also changed. Regardless of this the ship sailed on in the direction set and did not change course. It was highly encouraging for both the captain and the crew to find that it is still possible to discover valuable works of art and sometimes even treasures, although hidden in the dark recesses of our unconscious, unawareness and even ignorance. To extract a work of art from the context of oblivion and bring it back to life is one of the aims of our work: for this we require sufficient tenacity and persistence – some of the characteristics that people associate with rhinoceros.

In last year’s editorial – And the Ship Sails On – the activities of the institute were evaluated by Lubomír Konečný, who in April 2012 ended his eleven-year tenure in the function of director of this institution. The successful evaluation of this institute by an international panel is linked with his name. Konečný was instrumental in stabilising the Institute of Art History and developing the international cooperation of the institution. Its last tangible result was the collection of texts from the international conference held in Prague in 2010, published in 2012. (Lubomír Konečný – Štěpán Vácha – Béket Bukovinská (eds), Hans von Aachen in Context.

Proceedings of the International Conference Prague 22–25 September 2010, Prague, Artefactum, 2012.)

Vojtěch Lahoda was appointed as the new director from May 2012. Work continued on the projects aimed at basic research in the sphere of the history of Czech and European art and architecture. At the end of the year the Academia publishing house published Umělecké památky Prahy. Velká Praha A–L (Prague Art Monuments. Greater Prague A–L), Praha 2012, Pavel Vlček, (editor). A further volume of Umělecké památky Prahy. VI. Velká Praha M–Ž (Prague Art Monuments. VI. Greater Prague M–Z) has been submitted to Academia. In its own publishing house Artefactum or in other publishing houses the Institute has issued a number of publications covering subjects from the Middle Ages up to the art of the 20th century: Kniha k poctě Ivo Hlobila Helena Dáňová – Klára Mezihoráková – Dalibor Prix (eds), (Miscellany in honour of Ivo Hlobil), Emauzský cyklus (Emmaus Cycle) by Kateřina Kubínová, Středověká nástěnná malba ve středních Čechách (Medieval Wall Painting in Central Bohemia) by Zuzana Všetecková et al., Mnichov – Praha (Munich – Prague) (co-editor Taťána Petrasová), Miloš Jiránek by Tomáš Winter, SIAL (with Rostislav Švácha in the main role of editor and author – English version).

The researchers of the Institute participate in a long-term and systematic manner in exhibitions and exhibition catalogues. Exhibition projects are the most direct way of informing the public about the results of scientific research. The most important exhibition projects we would like to mention are as follows: L'étude d'après nature. Fotografie a umění v 19. století (Photography and Art in the 19th Century), Moravian Gallery in Brno; V plném spektru. Fotografie 1841–2005 ze sbírky Moravské galerie v Brně (In the full spectrum. Photographs 1841–2005 from the collection of the Moravian Gallery in Brno), Moravian Gallery in Brno; Italia antica e Italia moderna. Portréty italských pamětihonosti z liechtensteinských sbírek (Portraits of Italian places of interest from the Liechtenstein Collections), Valtice State Chateau, National Heritage Institute – Regional Center in Brno; 1912. 100 let od otevření Obecního domu v Praze (1912. 100 years since the opening of the Municipal House in Prague), Municipal House in Prague, Alfons Mucha, Slovanská epopej (Alfons Mucha. Slavonic Epic), GHMP, Jan Zrzavý. Božská hra. (Jan Zrzavý. Divine Game), Art Gallery of Ostrava; Kresby Josefa Winterhaldera ml. ze sbírek Vlastivědného muzea v Olomouci (Drawings of Josef Winterhalder Jr. from the collections of the National History Museum in Olomouc), National History Museum in Olomouc. In 2012 the Institute of Art History opened its own Window Gallery, where it presented, for instance, in the windows of the library, photographic works connected with the publications of employees of the Institute (African masks by Josef Sudek that you can see on the coverpage).

The Institute of Art History of the Academy of Sciences of the Czech Republic organised the 32nd year of the Plzeň Symposium on Culture of the 19th Century, including the exhibition Člověk a stroj v českém výtvarném umění 19. Století (Man and Machine in Czech 19th Century Art) in the West Bohemian Gallery in Plzeň, and also, in cooperation with the Department of Art and Archaeology of Princeton University Princeton in Prague: A Joint Seminar on Art, Patronage, and Visual Culture in Central Europe around 1600. The researchers of the Institute have been guest speakers at international conferences, symposia and seminars in Bratislava, Munich, Lausanne, Bologna, Warsaw, Stuttgart and Tallinn. Three colleagues represented the Institute of Art History of the Academy of Sciences of the Czech Republic at the 33rd International CIHA Congress in Nuremberg. The eager reader will find more detailed information on the activity of the Art History Institute in 2012 in the yearbook that he or she is now opening.

Director of the Institute

Research Departments

Department of Mediaeval Art

Head

Klára Benešovská

With regard to research the department is concentrating on the visual culture of the 10th to 16th centuries on the territory of the Czech Lands in their international context. Historically this is defined by the 9th century (the adoption of Christianity in Moravia and Bohemia) and the alternation of the Jagellonian and Habsburg dynasties on the Czech throne in 1526. In the interpretation of the works studied, seen as a valid specific source, account is taken as far as possible of all aspects, which participated in their creation and effect, including their original function, contemporary perception at the time of origin and also subsequent use. Cooperation with institutions outside the institute and abroad aids the critical reflection of new means of interpretation, their advantages and their limits.

In 2012, apart from the joint task of the preparation of the publication Eleven Centuries of Visual Art in the Czech Lands, the departments participated in both foreign and domestic projects. Ivo Hlobil and Milada Studničková contributed to the catalogue of the international exhibition project “Kunst und Kultur zur Zeit der Jagiellonen”, 2012–2013 (Kutná Hora – Warsaw – Potsdam) prepared by GWZO Leipzig under the leadership of Robert Suckale and the coordination of Jiří Fajt.

Milada Studničková participated in the grant project of excellence “Cultural Codes and their Transformations in the Hussite Period (2012–2018)”, led by František Šmahel in the Center for Medieval Studies (CMS). She also took part in the foreign project “Ostmitteleuropa. Mitteleuropäische Schulen VIII (circa 1400–1450) Böhmen, Mähren, Schlesien, Ungarn (2010–2013)”, which is financed by the Fond zur Förderung der wissenschaftlichen Forschung–Österreich, and also the “CIHA Congress – 33. Internationaler Kunsthistoriker-Kongress” in Nuremberg and the workshop entitled “Dialog mit Fremden: Kultur als Ergebnis überregionalen Handel(n)s? Wege von Wissen und materieller Kultur als Ausdruck religiösen, politischen und wirtschaftlichen Handelns im Spätmittelalter”, held in Vienna (Institut für Geschichte der Universität Wien, Zentrum Mittelalterforschung der Österreichischen Akademie der Wissenschaften).

Klára Benešovská prepared a paper for the final publication of the project “Transferts et circulations artistiques dans l’Europe médiéval”, INHA Paris, Universities in Toulouse and Liège, 2010–2013. She also participated in the international conference “Arte di Corte in Italia del Nord. Programmi, modelli, artisti 1330–1402 ca.” in Lausanne.

Lenka Panušková cooperated in the theme “Usus aquarum: Mühlenbau, Wasser und Verkehr in der hochmittelalterlichen Kolonisation Ostmitteleuropas” (the part entitled The Appearance of Mills and Water Transport in the Visual Culture of the Czech Middle Ages) with GWZO Leipzig and also with Stiftsbibliothek Bernkastel-Kues.

In the publication activities of departments attention is due to the monograph by Kateřina Kubínová, Emauzský cyklus (The Emmaus Cycle), devoted to the iconography of the wall paintings in the ambit of the Monastery Na Slovanech. This is the first comprehensive elaboration of the cycle since the book by Josef Neuwirth in 1898. Five department employees (Benešovská, Hlobil, Kubínová, Studničková and Všetečková) contributed to the extensive monograph Lucemburkové. Česká koruna uprostřed Evropy (The Luxembourgs. The Czech Crown in the Center of Europe) published under the guidance of historians Lenka Bobková and František Šmahel.

Ivo Hlobil continued his long research into the work of the Master of the Madonna of Michle, which will culminate in the international exhibition “Madonna on Lion”, planned for 2014 (Museum of Art Olomouc – Bergbau & Gotikmuseum Leogang in cooperation with the Institute of Art History of the Academy of Sciences of the Czech Republic).

Also of importance is the pedagogical activity of employees of the department – Ivo Hlobil (Chair of Art History of the Arts Faculty of Palacký University in Olomouc), Lenka Panušková (Department of English Language and ELT Methodology of the Arts Faculty of Charles University, Prague), Zuzana Všetečková (Chair of Technology and Restoration of the Chemical-Technical University of Prague, Faculty for Restoration in v Litomyšl, Catholic Theological Faculty of Charles University, Faculty of Architecture of the Czech Technical University) and Klára Benešovská (ARCHIP Prague).

The cycle of regular discussion meetings “The Middle Ages in Motion” welcomed as a foreign guest in 2012 Marie Theisen from the Österreichische Akademie der Wissenschaften (Kommission für Schrift- und Buchwesen des Mittelalters) and the Universität Wien.

Department of Early Modern Art

Head

Ivan P. Muchka

The department members participating in the research for the grant project on Archduke Ferdinand II of Tyrol and the Hvězda Summer Residence have completed the manuscript of the publication and also the professional photographic documentation in the buildings of Nelahozeves, the Chateaux in Dresden, Ambras and Ingolstadt, created by the same group of stuccoers as the Hvězda in Prague. They have also prepared extensive comparative documentation of the architecture of Odeo Cornaro in Padua and the Chateau in Fontainebleau. Talks have been initiated with the Kunsthistorisches Museum in Vienna about the organisation of a joint exhibition devoted to Archduke Ferdinand II of Tyrol (Innsbruck – Prague 2017).

The institute is striving for continuity of scientific cooperation with leading European institutions. Lubomír Konečný is a member of the editorial board of the periodicals Emblematica: An Interdisciplinary Journal for Emblem Studies (New York) and Artibus et Historiae and he also participates in important conferences on these themes. In 2012 his contribution on Prud'hon's Justice appeared in Papers in English & American Studies XXI, Szeged, 2012 and one on El Greco and Antiquity in Eirene: Studia Graeca et Latina, XLVIII.

Martin Krummholz prepared for the publication Buquoyské Nové Hrady. Počátky krajinných parků v Čechách (Buquoy Nové Hrady. The beginnings of landscape parks in the Czech Lands), which was published in the framework of the NAKI project "The Renewal of the Buquoy Cultural Landscape. Protection of the moveable cultural heritage as the basis for the renewal of local memory and cultural identity". He elaborated the problem of the influence of the Buquoy family from the 17th to the 19th centuries in the Czech Lands and in Austria from the collections of the Institute of Art History of the Academy of Sciences of the Czech Republic. The book is an outstanding probe into the history of a concrete type of landscape park, a theme hitherto largely neglected in Czech art history.

Two research centers are active within the Framework of the department: Studia Rudolphina, which has prepared for publication a miscellany from the international conference on Hans von Aachen, and the center for Baroque Wall Painting in Central Europe. It has dealt with the systematic documentation of Baroque wall paintings in the Benedictine monasteries at Břevnov, Broumov and Svatý Jan pod Skalou. The head of the center, Martin Mádl, apart from the submission of an extensive manuscript on Giacomo Tencalla, delivered a paper at the conference entitled Crossroads of Artistic Migration in Bologna.

Department of Art of the 19th to 21th Centuries

Head

Lenka Bydžovská

The department is dealing with research into and interpretation of Czech modern art in the international context and in wider cultural relations. The present main joint task is the publication Eleven Centuries of Vizual Art in the Czech Lands. The members of the department are also devoting attention to numerous other projects, often originating in cooperation with colleagues from other scientific and cultural institutions. The development of contacts abroad plays an important role: in 2012 Vojtěch Lahoda's cooperation with Eesti Kunstimuuseum Kumu in Tallinn on the project "Geomeetriline inimene. Eesti Kunstnikkude Rühm ja 1920–1930. aastate kunstiüendus / Geometrical Man. The Group of Estonian artists and art innovation in the 1920s and 1930s" reached its culmination, including an exhibition, an extensive catalogue and a symposium. Vojtěch Lahoda also participated in the international project "Cubisti Cubismo" (Rome, Complesso del Vittoriano), which will culminate in March 2013 with an exhibition and catalogue. Rostislav Švácha presented a paper at the conference entitled "Tradition Loos", held at the Technische Universität München. Tatána Petrasová was the joint-editor and joint-author of the Czech-German book Mnichov – Praha. Výtvarné umění mezi tradicí a modernou / München – Prag. Kunst zwischen Tradition und Moderne, to which Lenka Bydžovská also contributed. Petr Kratochvíl continued with the grant project "Architecture and Public Space", within the framework of which he prepared and published an anthology of translations of 13 articles by foreign authors under the above name.

Rostislav Švácha led the collective of authors of the book entitled Napřej! Česká sportovní architektura 1567–2012 (Napřej! Czech Sports Architecture 1567–2012), published in Czech and English versions. Tatána Petrasová and Pavla Machalsková prepared the conference "Man and Machine in Czech 19th Century Culture" (the 32nd year of the Plzeň symposium), at which both presented papers, as did Tomáš Winter. Tatána Petrasová was also the joint-author of the exhibition and catalogue Člověk a stroj. Strojová estetika v českém výtvarném umění 19. století (Man and Machine. Mechanical aesthetics in Czech Art of the 19th century) (West Bohemian Gallery in Plzeň). Vojtěch Lahoda and Lenka Bydžovská shared in the conception and texts of the catalogue Černá slunce. Odvrácená strana modernity (The Black Sun. The Reverse Side of Modernity), which was linked to the exhibition of the same name, and they also cooperated on the exhibition and publication Jan Zrzavý. Božská hra (Jan Zrzavý. Divine Game) (Art Gallery in Ostrava). Tomáš Winter prepared a retrospective and monograph entitled Miloš Jiránek: Zápas o moderní malbu 1875–1911 (Miloš Jiránek: Struggle for Modern Painting) 1875–1911 (Art Gallery in Cheb and Gallery of Modern Art in Roudnice nad Labem). Mahulena Nešlehová, Rostislav Švácha and Tomáš Winter cooperated in the exhibition and catalogue 1912. 100 years since the opening of the Municipal House in Prague.

Also significant is the pedagogical activity of members of the department – Vojtěch Lahoda (Charles University in Prague), Rostislav Švácha (Palacký University in Olomouc and the Academy of Fine Arts in Prague), Petr Kratochvíl (Faculty of Architecture of the Czech Technical University in Prague) and Tomáš Winter (West Bohemian University in Plzeň).

Department of Topography

Head
Dalibor Prix

The Department of Art-historical Topography concentrated in 2012 on the preparation of indexes (Dalibor Prix, Klára Mezihoráková, Marie Platovská and Markéta Svobodová) and photographic and pictorial documentation (Vendula Hnídková and Pavel Vlček) for the prepared publication Umělecké památky Prahy. VI. Velká Praha M–Ž (Art Monuments of Prague. VI. Greater Prague M–Z) in the Academia publishing house. The first part of this book, Umělecké památky Prahy. V. Velká Praha A–L, (Art Monuments of Prague. V. Greater Prague A–L), edited by Pavel Vlček with the immense extent of 1077 pages and almost a thousand illustrations, came out at the end of 2012.

In the series Umělecké památky Moravy a Slezska (Art Monuments of Moravia and Silesia) work continued on the completion of the 3rd volume (O–P) at the entry Olomouc (Kateřina Dolejší) and field research and the preparation of texts were carried out for the 4th volume (R–Ž).

The members of the department also devote time to individual research into medieval architecture, baroque sculpture and architecture of the 19th and 20th centuries in the Czech Lands, and they participate in the preparation of exhibitions and conferences (Vendula Hnídková spoke at the CIHA congress – 33. Internationaler Kunsthistoriker-Kongress in Nuremberg) and cooperate with the Center for Epigraphic Studies.

Research Centers

Studia Rudolphina.

Research Center for Visual Arts and Culture in the Age of Rudolf II

Head of Center
Beket Bukovinská

The Center for the study of Rudolfine art and culture, Studia Rudolphina, came into being in the year 2000. A specialised reference library and a digital bibliography are available. The bulletin Studia Rudolphina has published the results of international research once a year since the year 2000. The Center provides Czech and foreign students and postgraduates with the necessary hinterland and the opportunity to utilise an annual scholarship (the Kateřina Dušková Memorial Fellowship), intended for research on Rudolfine art. The Institute of Art History has organised several international conferences (1969, 1987, 1997, and 2007) and its employees have participated in the preparation of exhibitions with a Rudolfine theme (1988 Essen and Vienna, 1997 Prague). The papers from the international conference Rudolf II, Prague and the World, which the Institute organised in connection with 1997 exhibition, were published by the Artefactum publishers. In 2010 the members of the Studia Rudolphina Center participated in the preparation of the exhibition and catalogue Hans von Aachen (1552–1615): Malíř na evropských dvorech (Painter at European Courts) (Aachen, Prague, Vienna) and prepared the international conference entitled Hans von Aachen and new research on the transfer of artistic ideas into Central Europe (Prague, Instirute of Art History, 22–25. September 2010). Contributions from thirty Czech and foreign researchers were published in 2012 in the miscellany Hans von Aachen in Context through the care of editors Lubomír Konečný, Štěpán Vácha and Beket Bukovinská, with the cooperation of Eliška Zlatohlávková and Markéta Ježková.

Center for Epigraphic and Sepulchral Studies

Head
Jiří Roháček

This center is the joint project of the Documentation Department and the Department of Art-historical Topography. The task of this center is research, methodical and documentation activity in the connected fields of sepulchral research and medieval and modern Latin epigraphy as “auxiliary sciences” for art history. The center organises regular international conference on the problems concerning sepulchral monuments, which have been taking place since the year 2000. In 2012 the 11th conference took place under the title Longius aut proprius mors sua quemque manet on 31 October – 2 November 2012 (conception, organisation and hosting by Jiří Roháček). Preparations also began for the 12th session, prepared for 30–31 October 2013 and the 13th session, planned for 2014. In 2012 volume IV of the series Epigraphica et Sepulcralia (ed. Jiří Roháček) was prepared with a new concept of the periodical forum of epigraphic and sepulchral studies, no longer with a direct connection to the above-mentioned conference.

The preparations began of two further volumes in the sub-series Epigraphica et Sepulcralia – monographica. Editorial activity in 2012 was represented by the preparation for the edition of a list of art and art-historical monuments in the Frýdlant district (Verzeichnis der kunstgeschichtlichen und historischen Denkmale im Landkreis Friedland) drawn up in the forties of the 20th century by Karl F. Kühn (Kristina Uhlíková).

In 2012 Jiří Roháček lectured at the Arts Faculty of the J. E. Purkyně University in Ústí nad Labem and the Arts Faculty of the South Bohemian University in České Budějovice. The department maintains contacts and cooperates with a number of leading institutions abroad, most closely with the Epigraphisches Forschungs- und Dokumentationszentrum (Ludwig-Maximilians-Universität München).

Center for Research into Baroque Ceiling Painting

Head
Martin Mádl

The Center is concentrating on the documentation and interpretation of wall paintings of the 17th and 18th centuries in sacred and profane architecture in the Czech Lands with regard to the context of Central European Early Modern art. The Center members are compiling photographic databases and thematic catalogues of wall paintings. They also make research results available in professional studies and through lectures and teaching activities.

In 2012 the members of the Center concentrated, in the framework of the project supported by the Czech Science Foundation, on the problem of wall paintings in Benedictine monasteries. In the course of this they documented cycles of paintings at Břevnov, Broumov and Svatý Jan pod Skalou, and also in the former Benedictine residence in Kladno. They also systematically investigated the archive resources of the Czech Province of the Order. They further prepared for the publication of an extensive monograph devoted to the work of the Ticino painters Caropforo and Giacomo Tencalla. Apart from this the staff of the Center participated actively in the international scientific meetings Crocevia e capitale della migrazione artistica:

forestieri a Bologna e bolognesi nel mondo (XVIII secolo) in Bologna and Neue Forschungen zu Schloss Ludwigsburg in Stuttgart.

The Center is developing cooperation in the field of research into Baroque wall paintings with academic and university centers with a similar focus in Austria, Croatia, Germany, Hungary, Italy, Poland, Slovakia, Slovenia and the USA within the framework of The Research Group for Baroque Ceiling Painting in Central Europe. Members of the Center attended the annual meeting of this group, which in 2012 took place in Brno.

Services Departments

Library

Head

Sabina Adamczyková

The library amasses domestic art-historical literature and selectively collects books from the fields of aesthetics, architecture, history and literary science. The library subscribes to more than 200 magazines and journals, over 40 % of which are from abroad. A considerable part of the stock consists of foreign publications, which are acquired by purchase and by extensive exchange with foreign partners. At the end of 2012 the library stock consisted of 82.074 volumes of books, exhibition catalogues and specialist periodicals. In the year in question the increment to stock was 1.161 volumes.

Among the important increments to stock there is, in particular, the list of world print collections The Illustrated Bartsch. In 1990 the library acquired 76 volumes of this list through exchange with the International Foundation for Art Research (New York). We receive further volumes as they are published thanks to the support of the Samuel H. Kress Foundation, now through the Institute for Art Research and Documentation in Norwalk. In 2012 this series already contained 107 volumes. The library provides services to all those interested from the ranks of the professional public and students. A total of 1.846 users are registered and in 2012 the library was visited by 2.881 readers, 1.219 books were borrowed and 8.790 volumes were taken out for reference only. Bibliographic Department of the Library

Head
Polana Bregantová

The Bibliography Center of the Institute of Art History is part of the Library. Its historical resources are card files containing more than 500.000 records of journal and newspaper articles from Czech periodicals of the 19th and 20th centuries. The most extensive are the files on Czech and foreign artists, a valuable part of which are records of reproductions of works of art. Also available are a card file of the authors of texts, a topographic index and a subject index. The files were closed in the mid-eighties of the 20th century and form part of the family silver of both field and institute.

The task of the Bibliography Center is the editing of the card files, the compilation of a Czech art-historical bibliography in electronic form and services for researchers from institutions and places of learning both in and outside Prague.

Department of Documentation

Head
Jiří Roháček

The Documentation Department fulfils three fundamental and closely connected tasks. The first is research in the field of sources for art history, the second is publishing activity and the third is the making available of our own extensive written (mainly personal and institutional legacies) and pictorial documentation resources, divided up into collections of prints, plans and photographs. A special category is the material linked to the activity of the N. P. Kondakov Archaeological Institute, containing, apart from literary remains, also a collection of icons (on loan to the National Gallery in Prague), a numismatic collection and a collection of small artefacts. Also active within the department is a restoration studio and the center of Epigraphic and Sepulchral Studies (Jiří Roháček, see Research Centers).

The most important task of the department in 2012 was the continuation of the project Obnova buquoyské kulturní krajiny: Záchrana movitého kulturního dědictví jako báze pro obnovu paměti místa a kulturní identity (Renewal of the Buquoy cultural landscape: Protection of the movable cultural heritage as the basis for renewal of local memory and cultural identity) (researcher: Petra Trnková). The project is realised within the framework of the Programme of Applied Research and Development of National and Cultural Identity (NAKI) of the Czech Ministry of Culture (see Projects).

The activity of the restoration studio (Tereza Cíglerová, Markéta Berdychová) was focused in 2012 on the restoring and conserving of historical plans connected with the locality of Nové Hrady (213 plans – see also the project Renewal of the Buquoy Cultural Landscape). Simultaneously a concept has been developed for the approach to the restoration and conservation of historical plans backed with canvas and a concept for the restoring and adjustment of transparent papers. Great attention was also paid to the new storage of collection items and improving the conditions in the depository.

The restorers cooperate closely with the Photographic Studio of the Institute of Art History of the Academy of Sciences of the Czech Republic in the preparation of professional photographic documentation of selected plans intended for publication or for the creation of facsimiles for exhibitions.

In 2012 the department again made available to researchers the exceptionally valuable personal collection of Jaromír Neumann (Jana Marešová) and the cleaned and catalogued part of the print collection (3,000 items from a total of 7,000, Štěpán Vácha). The re-cataloguing of the collection of plans continues (Martin Krummholz). For the initial orientation of researchers there is the 2012 revised guide to the resources of the department (departmental collective), which will become available on the Institute website in 2013.

Head

Dušana Barčová

The Photo Archive is a documentation department, which amasses, administers and protects photographs of art and architecture specialised for the area of the scientific, publication and lecturing activities of the specialist departments of the center. The stock of the Photo Archive serves the employees of specialist and cultural institutions, approved publishing houses, associations for the protection and renovation of monuments, researchers from home and abroad, restorers and students of art history. For reference only there is a database available with photos for consultation and photographs adjusted on catalogue cards. The Photographic Studio is a creative department, which ensures and participates fundamentally in quality pictorial presentation of art in scientific publications, exhibition catalogues, professional periodicals and independent exhibitions of photographs, as well as the photographic accompaniment of exhibitions.

In 2012 the department concentrated on the photographing and documentation of the illustrations for the prepared 11. století dějin vizuální kultury v českých zemích (Eleven Centuries of Visual Arts in the Czech Lands) and for the wider selection more than 300 photographs have already been taken from various localities in the Czech Lands. For the NAKI project of the Czech Ministry of Culture entitled Obnova buquoyské kulturní krajiny (Renewal of the Buquoy Cultural Landscape) the photographic department continued to take shots of the Nové Hrady archive plans before restoration and after restoration and also took photographs of the present state of the landscape and buildings. Many of these have been published in the publication Buquoyská krajina (The Buquoy Landscape), published by Artefactum, the Institute's publishing house. For the German version of the publication Sepulkrální skulptura jagellonského období v Čechách (Sepulchral Sculpture of the Jagellonian Era in Bohemia), prepared by the Artefactum publishing house, 37 new photographs were produced. The department also participated to an important extent in the illustration of publications by Tomáš Winter published by Arbor vitae: in the monograph Miloš Jiránek, Zápas o moderní malbu (Miloš Jiránek, The Struggle for Modern Painting) and in the catalogue Palmy na Vltavě (Palms on the Vltava).

A visit to the Photographic Library is possible only with prior agreement arranged by telephoning numbers 221 183 509 or 221 183 510 daily between 10 am and 4 pm.

RIHA Journal

Editor for the Institute of Art History of the Czech Academy of Sciences of the Czech Republic
Pavla Machalíková

The Institute of Art History, as a member of RIHA (the International Association of Research Institutes in the History of Art), collaborates in the publication of the Internet periodical known as the RIHA Journal, which was started in 2010. The aim of this journal is to publish original art-historical articles with the least possible delay. In the case of texts printed earlier in languages other than the official CIHA languages it is also possible to publish translations of important studies. The collective "editor" of the journal are the individual directors of the member institutes of the RIHA association, the name of which is simultaneously the guarantee of the quality of this periodical. In each institute there is one editor who coordinates the reviewing and publication process of the texts.

This is an indexed periodical included in the database Web of Science (ISI Web of Knowledge, <http://apps.isiknowledge.com>).

Artefactum publishing house

Executive Editor
Ivo Purš

The publishing house of the Institute, Artefactum, was established in 1994 with the aim of not only publishing (in Czech and possibly also in English or German) the results of the research of the Institute of Art History of the Academy of Sciences of the Czech Republic, but also making available the original work of Czech and foreign art historians on important (Central) European themes. It publishes selected theses defended at Czech universities in the field of art history.

The publisher issues two edition series: Fontes historiae artium as a series of editions of written sources from Czech and foreign archives on the history of Czech and world art; and Opera minora historiae artium, focused on studies of a monographic nature devoted both to individual artists and to concrete works of art. The publishing house's other standard publications are conference miscellanies and research catalogues and the bulletin Studia Rudolphina.

The major part in the financing of the publications issued is played by the Edition Council of the Academy of Sciences of the Czech Republic. The Artefactum publishing house coordinates its publishing activity with the Academia publishing house.

Projects

Projects

- Jedenáct století dějin vizuální kultury v českých zemích – (Eleven Centuries of Visual Art in the Czech Lands)

This project acquaints the reader with the development of the visual arts, architecture and visual culture in Bohemia and Moravia from the beginnings of Christianity up to the present. In thematically arranged brief entries, focussing on one to three works (architecture, sculpture, painting and also crafts, photography and contemporary art media), the book acquaints the reader with the context of the origin of works of art, important artists, the types of circles placing orders and the key themes and problems of the individual epochs. Preceding the entries are introductory essays in which there is an evaluation of the constants (such as the status and function of art and perceptions) and also the specific traits (how European tendencies acquire a Czech form, the continuity and discontinuity of domestic development).

The publication is intended for both the professional and the general public and will come in both English and Czech versions. It is divided into three chronological sections – (1) medieval art, (2) the renaissance, mannerism and the baroque and (3) art of the 19th and 20th centuries. The authors of the texts are a team of researchers from the Institute of Art History of the Academy of Sciences of the Czech Republic.

- Bernardinské "slunce" nad českými zeměmi – význam bernardinské estetiky v českých zemích pozdního středověku (The Bernardine "sun" over the Czech Lands – the importance of Bernardine aesthetics in the Czech Lands in the Late Middle Ages)

Financing: Czech Science Foundation (GAČR),
No. P409/12/2302, 2012–2014

Researcher: Jan Chlíbec

Saint Bernardine of Siena, a reformer and founder of the Order of the Franciscan Observants, also influenced the sphere of the visual arts in the 15th and beginning of the 16th centuries through his preaching and literary activity (and also through his disciple John of Capistrano). So far no attention has been paid to the aesthetic opinions of the two Franciscans and their reflection in the preserved works of art from the monasteries of the Franciscan Observants in the Czech Lands. The theme itself has a strong international aspect because it maps out one offshoot of Italian medieval aesthetics and its absorption into the Czech environment. The elaboration of this project fills a gap in contemporary international research into the history of the Order of Franciscan Observants and its cultural influence; the project also analyses hitherto untapped Bernardine aesthetic opinions and thus includes them in the interdisciplinary research into this figure at the turn of the Late Middle Ages and the Renaissance. The end result of this project will be a book on this theme.

- Architektura a veřejný prostor (Architecture and Public Spaces)

Financing: Czech Science Foundation (GAČR),
No. P409/11/2220, 2011–2014

Researcher: Petr Kratochvíl

The aim of this project is to investigate what is the relationship between architecture and public spaces, how this relationship developed historically from the onset of modern architecture and especially what opportunities contemporary architectural work uses for the shaping of public spaces. In the course of the second year an anthology of texts by important world architects, town planners and sociologists was prepared with an introductory study by the author. This was published under the title "Architektura a veřejný prostor" (Architecture and Public Spaces) by the Zlatý řez publishing house.

- Barokní nástěnná malba v benediktinských klášterech v českých zemích (Baroque ceiling paintings in Benedictine monasteries in the Czech Lands)

Financing: Czech Science Foundation (GAČR),
No. P409/12/2568, 2012–2014

Researchers: Martin Mádl, Štěpán Vácha

This project is devoted to wall paintings of the 17th and 18th centuries in Benedictine monasteries in Bohemia and Moravia. It is a continuation of previous research, the aim of which was the extensive documentation of baroque wall paintings on the premises of the Benedictine, Cistercian and Premonstratensian Orders. The paintings are documented and subsequently re-interpreted with a view to the wider context of monastic culture and Early Modern Age visual communication in Central Europe. Within the framework of this project there is also investigation of archive material in the collections of the Czech Benedictine Province. In the first year of research heuristic work was carried out, documentation of painting cycles in the monasteries of Břevnov, Broumov and Svatý Jan pod Skalou and research in the collections of the National Archives and the National Heritage Institute. The results of the project will be presented to the public as a catalogue of wall paintings in book form after the research work is completed.

- Arcivévoda Ferdinand II. Tyrolský a letohrádek Hvězda (Archduke Ferdinand II of Tirol, and the Hvězda summer palace)

Financing: Czech Science Foundation (GAČR)
No. P409/10/2284, 2010-2012

Researchers: Ivan Muchka, Ivo Purš, Sylva Dobalová
In the last year of the project all expected works predicted in the interim report 2011, were carried out – Nelahozeves, Dresden and comparisons made in France and in Italy. After receiving permission from the Lobkowitz Collections professional photographic documentation was realised in the Knights, Hall in Nelahozeves. In fact these photos confirmed and specified the authorship of the ceiling to the group of Antonio Brocco, as in Dresden and Prague.

Very useful was the chance to compare, during study trips, the decoration of Hvězda with some of most important works of this kind in Europe – Gallery of the king Francois I and the Room of Madame d'Etampes in Fontainebleau and the Odeo and Loggia Cornaro in Padova.

The aim of the project was to write a monograph about the specific complex of the game park, and the architecture and decoration of the Hvězda building in broader arthistorical and cultural historical context. The working title is: "Arcivévoda Ferdinand II. Tyrolský a obora s letohrádkem Hvězda v evropském kontextu", (Archduke Ferdinand II of Tirol, and the Hvězda game park and summer palace in European context). The manuscript has more than 400 pages and the complete bibliography more than 1500 items; the selection of illustrations will depend on to the technical possibilities of the edition; i.e. between 500–1000 items. The book will be published in Artefactum publishing house.

- Amphitheatrum sapientiae aeternea Heinricha Khunratha (1609): překlad, edice a analýza jeho historických, přírodnovědeckých a uměleckých aspektů (Amphitheatrum sapientiae aeternea of Heinrich Khunrath (1609): translation, editing and analysis of its historical, scientific and artistic aspects)

Financing: Czech Science Foundation (GAČR),
No. P405/12/1268, 2012–2015

Researcher: Ivo Purš

The Leipzig doctor, alchemist and mystic Heinrich Khunrath (1560–1605) is one of the most significant figures of European alchemy at the turn of the 16th and 17th centuries. Although he was intensely occupied with laboratory activity, his influence did not stem from scientific and technological discoveries, but from his intricately conceived treatises, in which he mingled alchemical theories with Christian and cabalistic mystique and artistically rich illustrations. The influence of his work was thus not restricted merely to the field of science, but also reached into the wider sphere of Central European culture. His work therefore also played an influential part in the Rudolfine cultural circle, which has not hitherto been appropriately analysed and scientifically elaborated. The aim of this project is the general analysis of Khunrath's most influential work, the Amphitheatrum sapientiae aeternae solius verae (The Amphitheatre of the Eternal and Only True Wisdom, 1595, 1609) and its inclusion in the context of the court culture of Rudolf II. The outcome will be the publication of the Amphitheatre with an extensive inter-disciplinary commentary.

- Obrazy jako nástroje katolické konfesijní polemiky v českých zemích v období 1550–1650 (Paintings as instruments of the Catholic confessional polemic in the Czech Lands in the period of 1550–1650)

Financing: Grant Agency of the Academy of Sciences of the Czech Republic, No. IAA800330902, 2009–2012

Researcher: Michal Šroněk

The project resolved three basic questions: the problem of the confession mobility of those ordering works of art, which means changes in their confession allegiance both in time and on the social and local level. There then followed an investigation of the texts devoted to the question of religious paintings in the Czech Lands. More profound attention was devoted to the iconography of works of art created during the 16th century, in the course of which a transformation was found, linked with the attempts of the post-Hussite period to strengthen the influence of Catholicism through the introduction (or strengthening) of new cults in the 15th century and at the beginning of the 16th century and the simultaneous strengthening of traditional iconographic patterns in connection with the revival of the cult of Czech patron saints in the second half of the 16th century and at the beginning of the 17th century. The results will be published in a book monograph. We managed to promote an unplanned event – the exhibition entitled Umění české reformace. 1380–1620 [Art of the Czech Reformation. 1380–1620] (Imperial Stables of Prague Castle 2010–2011, with Kateřina Horníčková) and the issue of a publication with the same title. This is a fundamental work covering the problems of art in the “Reformation” period of Czech history in the environment of all the confessions active here at this time.

- Obnova buquoyské kulturní krajiny: Záchrana movitého kulturního dědictví jako báze pro obnovu paměti místa a kulturní identity (Renewal of the Buquoy cultural landscape: Protection of the movable cultural heritage as the basis for the renewal of local memory and cultural identity)
Project in the framework of the Programme of Applied Research and Development of the National and Cultural Identity (NAKI) of the Czech Ministry of Culture, No. DF11P01OVV033, 2011–2015

Researcher: Petra Trnková

Members of the research team: Markéta Berdychová, Tereza Cíglerová, Jan Ivanega, Martin Krummholz and Petr Šámal

The project came into being in connection with the recent identification of an extensive bundle of photographs and plans in the collections of the Institute of Art History of the Academy of Sciences of the Czech Republic, linked with the Buquoy estate in South Bohemia in the 19th century. The material is exceptional in quality, extent and also in the specific circumstances of its origin and demonstrates the purposeful and systematic “documentation” of the changes in the Buquoy residences and adjoining estates, culminating around the middle of the 19th century. The aim of the project is the preservation of this bundle of around 2,000 photographs and plans, their professional processing, scientific evaluation and making them accessible to the public. The project also sets itself the aim of investigating, clarifying and virtually reconstructing the appearance of the no longer existent small buildings and roads in the landscape and specific compositional units in parks and in the vicinity of the chateau and castle buildings in Nové Hrady and Rožmberk nad Vltavou. It also pays attention to the analysis of building development and functional alterations of the Buquoy residences, the mapping of the changes in the individual localities, buildings and interiors, the questions of the depiction of the nobleman's residence, its interiors and surroundings, the artistic and social context of these activities and the artistic interests of the owners of the estate. The project tracks the question of changes in local memory in connection with the non/existence of the two social groups traditionally linked with the region, i.e. the Buquoy family as the estate owners and the once majority Czech-German population.

- Počátky fotografie na Moravě v kontextu střední Evropy (The beginnings of photography in Moravia in the context of Central Europe)

Financing: Czech Science Foundation (GAČR),

No. P409/11/P834, 2011–2013

Researcher: Petra Trnková

The project is aimed at the investigation of the earliest period (roughly 1840–1860) of the history of photographic media in Moravia, with emphasis on deepening the so far minimal basic research in the context of Brno, and also at the analysis of the existing mythology linked with this cultural circle. The project sets itself the aim of mapping out appropriate material and setting the beginnings of photography here in the wider European context. The subject of investigation is the circle of local “first photographers”, which means mainly those experimenting with photography, as well as the production of travelling photographers and, last but not least, also material of foreign provenance imported to collections here. Attention is paid not only to concrete personalities and events, but also to questions of support for the development of photography on the part of institutions and individuals here (schools, the church, local government, societies, chambers, the nobility, etc.), and links to Vienna and other European centers of photography. Also an intrinsic part is the investigation of the links between successful production in Brno and the development of photography in other regions of Moravia. Space is also reserved for the contemporary reception of photography as a cultural phenomenon in other areas of culture – art, literature, the sciences, etc. The main volume of the work in 2012 was the investigation of regional collections.

Book Publications

Book publications of the Artefactum Publishing House

- Černá slunce. Odvrácená strana modernity
/ The Black Sun. The Reverse Side of Modernity
Lenka Bydžovská – Vojtěch Lahoda – Karel Srp

This publication, linked to the exhibition, traces an important current in Czech art, expressing criticism of utilitarian society and also a sobering-up of the original utopian starting-points of the avant-garde. It presented Czech graphic art from the end of the twenties to the mid-forties of the 20th century in its darker form, quite different from the usual perception of modernism as the lifestyle of the future. This period is presented as the clash of opposing views and the vehicle of phenomena, which already foretold post-war approaches to art. The catalogue presented around forty important artists, including the key works of Jindřich Štyrský, Toyen, Josef Šíma, Emil Filla, Jan Zrzavý, Josef Lada, Alois Wachsman, František Janoušek, Josef Váchal, Josef Wagner, Zdeněk Rykr, Alén Diviš, František Hudeček, František Gross, František Drtikol and Karel Teige. The part played by artists from Slovakia, such as Cyrián Majerník, Jakub Bauernfreund and André Nemeš, or the photographers Sergej Protopopov and Irena Blühová was also emphasised.

Lubomír Konečný and Štěpán Vácha (eds.) with Beket Bukovinská assisted by Markéta Ježková and Eliška Zlatohlávková

The research center for Rudolfine art, Studia Rudolphina, issued the miscellany Hans von Aachen in Context compiled from papers delivered at the international conference, which took place in the Institute of Art History of the Academy of Sciences of the Czech Republic on 22–25 September 2010 on the occasion of the exhibition entitled Hans von Aachen (1552–1615): Malíř na evropských dvorech (Hans von Aachen (1552–1615): Painter at the Courts of Europe). In the publication there are thirty contributions from European, American and Canadian researchers dealing with the question of the links of Hans von Aachen to the Italian environment, his importance as a leading figure in painting in Central Europe around 1600, the influence of his work on his contemporaries and followers and the problems of the network of clients, art agents and artists in Central Europe in which the painter was involved.

In the section entitled "Dissertations in Progress" young researchers from European and Canadian universities were given the opportunity to present their projects. Also included at the end of the book was a complete bibliography by the leading researcher of Central European Renaissance and Mannerist painting and drawing, Eliška Fučíková, to whom the miscellany is dedicated.

- Architektura a veřejný prostor. Texty o moderní a současné architektuře IV / Architecture and Public Space. Texts on modern and contemporary architecture IV
Petr Kratochvíl (ed.)

This anthology of translated texts includes essays and selected book chapters by leading urban sociologists, urbanists and architects, such as R. Sennett, H. P. Bahrdt, P. Marcuse, M. Crawford, P. Goldberger, K. Selle, O. Bohigas, M. de Solà-Morales, J. Pallasmaa, V. Acconci, A. Geuze, J. Gehl and J. Bruns-Berentelg. It thus presents various views of public space both as a physical urban form and as the scene of public life. In the center of attention of all the contributions is the search for the sense of public space in contemporary towns, the consideration of the risks that are a threat in today's globalised and mobile world and also the presentation of positive examples of the renewal of interest in and care for public space. The book is introduced by the editor's own article "Public Space as a Theme of Architectural Theory and Creativity".

- Buquoyská krajina / The Buquoy Landscape. Zaniklé i dochované stavby v Nových Hradech a okolí / The Buquoy Landscape. Vanished and preserved buildings in Nové Hrady and its environs
Martin Krummholz – Jan Ivanega – Petra Trnková

This publication came into being along with the instructive trail of the Buquoy Landscape in the second year of the project entitled Renewal of the Buquoy Cultural Landscape: Protection of the movable cultural heritage as the basis for the renewal of local memory and cultural identity, realised by the Institute of Art History of the Academy of Sciences of the Czech Republic. It collects together the results of existing research into the landscaping and building activities of the family of the Counts of Buquoy in the immediate vicinity of their country seat at Nové Hrady, in a wider period and European context. The aim of the publication is to remind the present inhabitants of Nové Hrady and domestic and foreign visitors of the half-forgotten past and the fate of the interesting and artistically valuable buildings, many of which have vanished completely or become ruins, and also of their creators and original owners.

- Buquoyské Nové Hrady. Počátky krajinných parků v Čechách / Buquoy Nové Hrady. The Beginnings of Landscape Parks in Bohemia and her great-nephew Jiří Jan Buquoy (1814–1882). The important Buquoy foundation of the regional park of Tereziino údolí is set in a wider geographical and also cultural-social framework. In the context of their chain of residences there are also descriptions of other Buquoy properties – apart from Nové Hrady there are in particular Červený Hrádek in North Bohemia, the Prague summer residence in Bubeneč and the palaces in Prague and Vienna. The Buquoy foundations and activities as collectors or benefactors acquire a European dimension thanks to the thorough investigation of hitherto unknown archive and iconographic material.

- Umělecké památky Prahy. Velká Praha. A–L / Art Monuments of Prague. Greater Prague. A–L
Vlček, Pavel a kol.

After the four volumes devoted to the historical towns of Prague (the Old Town, the New Town, the Lesser Town and Prague Castle and Hradčany) there follows the first of two parts handling the later additions of towns, villages and hamlets. Apart from a large quantity of modern architectural monuments there can also be found in these Prague districts a number of interesting buildings from earlier periods (medieval churches, monasteries, chateaux, fortresses, residences, etc.). The individual entries contain: localisation of the building, typology, text summarising its history, then an explanation of the building's history and a detailed description of the building with references to sources and literature and possibly also the historical iconography. The text is also supplemented here with construction plans or ground-plans and historical photographs. For each cadastral area (including those no longer in existence) the individual entries are preceded by an introduction dealing with the historical development.

- Středověká nástěnná malba ve středních Čechách / Medieval Wall Paintings in Central Bohemia
Zuzana Všetečková a kol.

In its second edition the publication on medieval wall paintings in Central Bohemia is expanded by a study of the historical context of the origin of these paintings and it presents, apart from the stock hitherto known, also newly uncovered paintings in 16 localities and a detailed résumé in German. The paintings presented prove the significance of the Central Bohemian region, where paintings were preserved chiefly in numerous parish and capitular churches, in the Sázava Monastery and especially in the castles of Karlštejn, Křivoklát and Brandýs nad Labem. The founders were Bohemian monarchs, abbots, canons and priests, nobles and patricians. The relatively high quality of the paintings and the less usual iconographic themes together show the close links of the region with Prague as the seat of the rulers.
