

Institute of Scientific Instruments of the CAS,
Medical Signals group invites you to lecture:

Risk assessment based on short term ECGs

Prof. Marek A. Malik, MD, PhD

Professor of Cardiac Electrophysiology
National Heart and Lung Institute of Imperial College in London
ISCE Board of Directors of International Society for Computerized Electrocardiology.

Dr. M. A. Malik graduated from Charles University in Prague in both mathematics and medicine. He subsequently moved to London where he became Professor of Cardiac Electrophysiology at the University of London, specializing on computer processing of electrocardiograms, cardiac risk stratification, and autonomic testing.

November 27th 2017, 11:00 - 12:00AM

Institute of Scientific Instruments, Královopolská 147, Brno in the Big Lecture Hall. Free entry.

