

Review Articles of Young Investigators in *Physiological Research

Ph.D. students and post-docs younger than 35 years are kindly asked to submit their review articles for Physiological Research. Review article should concern the topic of his/her own PhD Thesis and must be presented in the context of the research performed in the respective department. Own experimental results should be mentioned in the review.

Although the young investigator will be a corresponding author of the reviewer article, the co-authorship of PhD Thesis supervisor or other senior investigator from the department is a necessary prerequisite for the consideration in Physiological Research.

The recommended size of the manuscript is 5000-8000 words with 4-5 figures or tables which corresponds to 8-12 printed pages in the journal (about 15-25 pages of classical manuscript). Number of references is not limited but 70-100 references are recommended. Manuscript should be prepared according to the Instruction for Authors of Physiological Research. Too short or too long manuscripts will not be processed and returned to the author without being reviewed.

Each submitted article will be a subject of Peer Review process. Page charge of accepted reviews will be 500 CZK (20 EUR) per printed page, i.e. 4000-6000 CZK per paper covered by the research grant(s) of the department.

The accepted articles will be evaluated by a special committee to choose three best papers which will be awarded (3 x 10000 CZK) by the Director of the Institute of Physiology CAS.

Josef Zicha
Managing Editor
Physiological Research