

Digital Humanities in Early Music Research I

---

A series of conferences and workshops focusing on the use of digital humanities in early music research. The series is open to the public free of charge. Reservation is required: please contact jointly the coordinator Jana Franková (frankova@mua.cas.cz) and Hana Vihová-Wörner (vlhova@mua.cas.cz)

Session I – Early music databases, encoding, analysing and OMR

5–6 March 2020, Praha 1, Akademické konferenční centrum, Husova 4a

Debra Lacoste (Principal Researcher and Project Manager of Cantus Database and Cantus Index; University of Waterloo, Canada)

Jennifer Bain (Principal Investigator for Digital Analysis of Chant Transmission and Contextualizing the Music of Hildegard of Bingen; Dalhousie University, Halifax, Canada)

Ichiro Fujinaga (Principal Investigator for SIMSSA - Single Interface for Music Score Searching and Analysis and Cantus Ultimus; McGill University, Montréal, Canada)

Session II – Databases and encoding of early music

22, 24, 29 and 30 June 2020, from 4 p.m., online

Elsa De Luca (Coordinator of the Portuguese Early Music Database, Administrative Chair and member of the Board of the Music Encoding Initiative (2019–21); CESEM-FCSH, NOVA University of Lisbon, Portugal)

Martha E. Thomae (member of the Board of the Music Encoding Initiative (2020–22); McGill University, Montréal, Canada)

Session III – Digital editions and musicology - editing texts and music

October 2020, online (dates to be precised)

Christophe Guillotel-Nothmann (Principal Investigator for the Thesaurus Musicarum Germanicarum; French National Centre for Scientific Research, IReMus, Paris, France) – to be confirmed

Konstantin Voigt (Universitätsassistent, post-doc researcher in Latin songs of the 12th century, collaborator on Corpus Monodicum; University of Vienna, Austria)