

Guest Editors Introductory Words

Members of the Czech and Slovak Physiological Societies traditionally participate in their annual conference – Physiological days. The 94th meeting was held at the Faculty of Medicine in Plzeň and as usually it brought together scientists from various departments and research fields.

During the meeting, interesting lectures were held, followed by intense scientific discussions. Based on some selected presentations, this Supplementum of the Physiological Research journal was compiled, which consists of three review articles and nine original papers.

The manuscripts cover a wide spectrum of scientific fields and we do hope that our readers will appreciate both the content and the way of presentation.

On behalf of the Editorial board
Marie Nováková
Jakub Otáhal