Dear Princess,

It gave me pleasure to receive your kind letter of March 17th, informing me that I had been elected an honorary member of the Kondakov Institute.

Enclosed I am sending a cheque to cover the publications of the Institute, which were sent to my address in Washington in accordance with the request I made during my visit to the Institute. The cheque is made out in the amount of $150.-, which will cover my dues as an honorary member for the current year, and I hope that the remainder of the proceeds of the cheque you will use in any way that may be desired in furthering the interests of the Institute.

I enjoyed very much my brief visit with you before my departure from Prague, and beg to send you my best wishes for the continued usefulness of the work you are doing.

Dear Princess:

It was a great pleasure to receive, a few days ago, your New Year card and to know that you had not forgotten the visit I made to the Institute last year. I often recall most clearly the visit I made to the Institute and the pleasure my wife and I had in seeing you during our stay at Prague.

I hope very much that the affairs of the Institute are progressing very satisfactorily and that you and the young men associated with it are all in excellent health. In that respect, may I say that I have received no statement of my dues for the present year as a member of the Institute and hope that you will have it sent to me so that I may send my check.

Hoping that I may have the pleasure of again meeting you before too long, believe me, with cordial remembrances,

Sincerely yours,
